

Healthcare communication i focus

– establishment of the Danish Society for Communication i Healthcare

In order to support patients' wishes for an improved informational level, enhanced involvement and more consistent and empathic care 'The Danish Society for Communication in Healthcare' was established in October 2016.

Purpose:

The society promotes professional communication in the Danish Healthcare System and offer a forum for education, research and overall improvements with relation to professional communication. The society gathers knowledge of initiatives and expertise from around the nation and supports networks that discuss and develop strategies for promoting professional communication.

Organisation:

The organizational form is highly democratic and network based thus providing the opportunity to encourage discussions among healthcare providers, researchers and administrators on communication-related issues.

The society aims to embrace all sectors of the Danish Healthcare System in order to engage, educate and inspire members from various fields of healthcare.

The groups:

Similar to the organisation of EACH, the Danish Society has divided into four interest groups regarding:

Research

Education

Arrangements

Policy and publicity

Contact us and visit our website:

www.sundhedskommunikation.nu

Become engaged in a group and let us make SKS a platform for:

- initiating national change towards a more patient centred approach to healthcare, and
- implementing more consistent communication strategies within the national healthcare sector as a whole

The board:

Jette Ammentorp, president,
Jette.ammentorp@rsyd.dk

Marianne Lau,
Marianne.engelbrecht.lau@regionh.dk

Marianne Jensen,
MAMJEN@rm.dk

Annegrethe Nielsen,
agni@phmetropol.dk

Lilli Sørensen,
Lilli.soerensen@rsyd.dk

Juliane Dinesen,
sjdinesen@hotmail.com

Helle Petersen,
post@hellepetersen.dk